IndiGo scraps leave without pay for staff

Says airline reached 70% of pre-Covid level, operating 1,000 daily flights

ARINDAM MAJUMDER
New Delhi, 3 December

In an apparent sign of recovery in the aviation sector from the pandemic, India's largest airline IndiGo has removed leave without pay (LWP) for all its employees. LWP was introduced in April to control costs.

The airline took this decision on a day when the government allowed them to utilise 80 per cent of pre-Covid capacity as the number of passengers taking a flight continues to climb.

"It looks like we are on a path to a graduated and measured recovery. In anticipation of the improved revenue that I know we can deliver, we are removing LWP across all departments from January 1, 2021," CEO Ronojoy Dutta wrote to employees.

Domestic air traffic jumped the most since the lockdown, with a month-on-month growth of 33 per cent in November. In June, IndiGo had implemented a mandatory LWP programme for 1.5 days to 5 days. Subsequently, in July, IndiGo announced 5.5 additional days of LWP for its pilots, taking the effective number of LWPs to 10 days.

As a cost-cutting measure, the airline had had 10 per cent of its employees to go and implemented a pay cut.

Dutta said he expects the government to remove curbs on capacity utilisation by early next year. However, he added that the outlook for international traffic continues to remain challenging. "While we are not out of the woods, we are certainly moving in the right direction," he wrote.

Company sources said the airline is utilising more of its aircraft as it sees a growth in demand. In the second quarter, IndiGo had a capacity utilisation of over 30 per cent, and ended it at 47 per cent, much above its peers.

On Wednesday, IndiGo said it reached 70 per cent of its pre-Covid capacity and is operating 1,000 international and domestic flights daily. India resumed domestic passenger flight operations on May 25 after two months due to the lockdown. At the time of resumption, the government had allowed airlines to operate at not more than 33 per cent of their pre-Covid domestic capacity.

Dutta had, during a post-results analyst call in October, said the airline's focus will be to aggressively expand its domestic capacity.

He had signalled that the company will be calling back its employees as capacity utilisation improves. However, chief financial officer (CFO) Aditya Pande said the airline will keep salary costs 30 per cent lower than its pre-Covid-19 levels, implying pay cuts for employees will continue for some time to come.

HONEY ADULTERATION ISSUE

FSSAI questions body for not conducting SMR test

Food safety regulator seeks details of CSE tests on honey

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 3 December

Food safety regulator FSSAI on Thursday sought details of the CSE tests that claimed to have busted adulterants in the top 10 honey brands, even as it raised questions over why its prescribed tests were not conducted.

In a statement, the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) said the CSE found the adulterants by using "the non-prescription" Trace Marker for Rice syrup (TMR) test instead of "a more sensitive" Specific Marker for Rice syrup test (SMR).

Stating that it has taken note of the CSE investigation on adulteration in honey, FSSAI said it had already made SMR test mandatory as it is "a more focused test to detect adulteration of rice syrup in honey." "It is not clear as to why some tests like SMR have not been conducted on the samples..." the statement said. "FSSAI has requested for details of the samples and the tests conducted from CSE."

Once the details are available, they will be analysed by FSSAI to draw conclusions about the protocols followed and suggest any improvements that are required in the test methodology for the future, it added.

On Wednesday, environment watchdog CSE claimed that honey sold by several major brands in India has been found to be adulterated with sugar syrup. Centre for Science and Environment (CSE) food researchers selected 13 top as well as smaller brands of processed and raw honey being sold in India to check their purity. It was found that 77 per cent of the samples were adulterated with sugar syrup. Out of the 22 samples checked, only five passed all the tests.

"Honey samples from leading brands such as Dabur, Patanjali, Baidyanath, Zandu, Hitkari and Apis Himalaya, all failed the NMR (Nuclear Magnetic Resonance) test," the study said. Emami (Zandu), Dabur, Patanjali Ayurveda and Apis Himalaya have refuted the claims made by the CSE.

"One of the points raised in this investigation is about the non-prescription of Trace Marker for Rice syrup (TMR) for detecting adulteration of rice syrup in honey. In view of the fact, a more sensitive Specific Marker for Rice syrup test (SMR) has already been made mandatory and is a more focused test to detect adulteration of rice syrup in honey, hence, it was felt by scientific experts that TMR is not necessary," FSSAI said.

This view was concurred by the Ministry of Agriculture, and hence TMR has not been made mandatory as a test method. Regarding the utility and desirability of NMR for honey testing, FSSAI clarified that it allows rapid but database driven detection and quantification of various chemical compounds, especially for authenticating the origin of a sample of honey.

Cap on domestic flights raised to 80% of pre-Covid level

The cap on the number of domestic flights that Indian airlines are permitted to operate was increased from 70 per cent to 80 per cent of their pre-Covid levels on Thursday, said Civil Aviation Minister Hardeep Singh Puri.

The minister had said on November 11 that the Indian airlines can operate up to 70 per cent of their pre-Covid domestic passenger flights due to the prevailing demand amid the Covid-19 situation.

Puri tweeted on Thursday, "Domestic operations recommenced with 30K passengers on 25 May & have now touched a high of 252,000 on November 30." "Ministry of Civil Aviation is now allowing domestic carriers to increase their operations from existing 70% to 80% of pre-Covid approved capacity," he stated. PTI
